The Herald has given publicity to the fact that of late Colonel Nick Treweek has been spending considerable of his time at Mercur, and most o his friends were under the impression that he was doing some expert work for an eastern syndicate, little dreaming that he himself was about to fig ure as one of the principals in one of the largest mining deals, with Mer cur as the scene of action, that has taken place in that camp for many a day; but such is the case, however for yesterday afternoon Colonel Trofor yesterday atternoon council fra-wish and A. Hanauer secured a lease and bord on the Cannon group of claims adjoining the great Mercur mine. The papers in the transaction will be made out today by Attorneys John M. Cannon and Benness, Hark-ness, Howat and Bradley, and on Sat-urday the purchasers will take pos-asion.

This group of claims, owned by the Cannon Gold Mining and Milling company, comprising over sixty-three acres of calcuted land, is one of the most valuable practically undeveloped prop-erties to be bound in Mercur, adjoining, as it does, the Mercur and Golden Gate

While the facts of the making of the lease and bond have been given to the public, the life of the lease and the amount of the bond have been withheld. Still, it is known that the price caked for the property runs up into many thousands, and it is believed at the figure named the ground is a bargain, as it is squarely on the great or zone of the district.

It is a well known fact that the Euricka-Hill mine, at Eureka, is one of the bonanza mines of the state, and although it is owned by a close corporation, it has a great record to unfold, if the outside world could only get at the volume. Not long ago a fine mill was erected by the Eureka-Hill company, but of late no bullion shipments nave been made, and the public in general has been greatly mystified thereby. The Heraid, however, learns on good authority, that it is the intention of the manager, John Q. Packard, to make a carload shipment of silver and lead bullion. Two hundred hars will make up the consignment, and all but sixteen of these have been cast, so but sixteen of these have been cast, so that this mammoth shipment will in all probability be made within the next

Gulch Mining Claim. T. Marinueaux, who made Bingham a visit the first of the week, reports that the Liberal mine, in Markham gulch, is showing up in fine shape at the present time.

Judge S. McDowall and Mr. Marinucaux have a bond on a half interest in this property from D. W. Teachenor of Bingnam, and jointly these three gentlemen are systematically and thorughly pushing its development. The Liberal tunnel is now in a dis-ance of 34 feet, from the face of which tance of 34 feet, from the face of which a station has been cut out and a winz started. The last forty feet of the tunnel is in concentrating ore, and where the winz was started a foot or stipping ore gave promise of greater values and greater ore bothes with depth. transactions. The association has started out in good shape, and already is doing considerable business.

J. E. Foqte, who is just in from Skull Valley, states that a large amount of work is going on in the district, with good results. He also brings with him the pleasing intelligence that the Kellog boys and their partners have struck free gold in their Dry Canyon group Just east of the Indian ranch. The gold was carried in a white quarts, but exists only, so far as known, in small pockets. General Penrose has quite a force of men at work on his claims in the district, and his camp looks quite business-like with its four tents and four wagons. There was guite a rush last week to secure extensions on the Skull Valley Gold Mining company's group, in which rich discoveries had been reported, but Mr. Poote was the lucky man to get there first, and he made several choice locations.

Captain P. H. Scott and O. Streatfield, of Denver, well-known mining and miling men, were at the Knutsford last night on their way back to Colorado from a visit of inspection to the Sevier gold mine, on Gold Hill, Plute county, where they have been for George Arthur, Rice for the purpose of examining the proposed mill. The examination so far has been most satisfactory to these gentlemen, and they are more than pleased with the property, which is now being still further developed by means of a 200-foot tunnel. Captain Scott reports a reported discovery of $100 gold ore four miles southeast of the Sevier, not far from the Ann'e Laurie mine, the ledge being all of seven feet wide. Messrs. Scott and Streatfield expect to return to the Sevier some time next month.

HOTEL AND CORRIDOR.

It was a little after 10 in the Knutsford last evening when a gentleman whose name sounds a little like Westervelt told a neat little yarn on "some of the fellows" who had been to the Eugene Field evening in Mr. McCornick's residence. The recitals and musical selections were over, and several of the boys gathered in an upstairs room for a whiff and a chat.

It was the second round, and some six very popular young gentlemen had formed in a circle around the center of attraction, and each man pushed up his size.

"Well, here's how," said the Son of the Revolution.

"Here's how," echoed the others, and were in the act, when a dignified female voice said, "Beg pardon, gentlemen," and upon looking around, the sextette perceived three shocked-looking ladies, one of whom was the school marm in "A Dress Rehearsal." The ladies withdrew and the gentlemen went downstairs for a cup of tea.

Harry Goodling of the Seabolit com-

Harry Goodling of the Seaboldt com-pany told a fair one on a colleague in the Templeton last evening, about this the Templeton last evening, about this way:

"Maybe you've heard this, but it's pretty good, anyway. You know, once upon a time a poor, lonely, forlorn commercial man dropped into a country village. It was Sunday morning. He had been up all of the night before, but was too tired to sleep, and so, strolling up to the landford he asked him if there was anything open. 'Only the church over the way,' said the host.

"The drummer strolled into the church and occupied a pew near the front. The sermon was rather tedious and he fell asleep. After awhile the min-later said. 'All who want to go to heaven, please rise,' and everyone, with the exception of my friend, got They sat down, and the clergyman

"They sat down, and the clergyman said, 'All who want to go to the other place, please rise.'

"Slowly the traveler, who had been awakened by the movement of the congregation, stood up, and in a sleepy voice drawled, 'I don't know zacily what you said, but you and I seem to be in a hopeless minority,' and the minister asked no more."
